Good Exhibitions Put Up by McGill Men

MANY GRADS. PRESENT

M.A.A.A. Boxers Also Gave Several Bouts—One Decisive Match

The Boxing, Wrestling and Fencing Club's smoker, which was held in the Union on Saturday night, was one of the most successful events of the season. The attendance of students, although not as large as was expected, was, indeed, encouraging. Amongst those present were to be seen a number of well-known graduates, and a good representation of the professoriate, as well as a number of M. A. A. A. enthusiasts, who came to cheer on their members in the several bouts in which the latter took part.

About 8.30 nearly 300 men had gathered round an elevated ring erected in the centre of the ballroom floor. The boxing did not start immediately, due to the absence of Billy Armstrong, the referee, but pipes were filled up and the delay was not noticed. During this time groups of graduates and older students were to be heard exchanging stories of boxing and wrestling in "the good old days" before the war, and recalling with pleasure the many enjoyable smokers, called back to life by the revival of the sport.

The programme began with a wrestling bout between an Arts man and a Medico. Both men exhibited many clever holds, but neither gained any decided advantage. This was followed up by another and then the boxers were given an opportunity to show their skill. Thus the spectators were not allowed to grow tired of either of the branches of sport taken up by the club. Indeed, their interest was retained to the very last bout. As the men entered the ring each received a cheer from his respective supporters, and through the bout, whenever a clever blow was struck, or a hold taken by one of the artists, his supporters would make the room resound with yells and cries for renewed effort.

Perhaps the most spectacular wrestling bout was between McIntosh, of Med. '22, and Duvernet, of Med. '21. The men were evenly matched and for a time it seemed as though neither would secure a good hold. However, Duvernet succeeded in getting a half-nelson on his opponent and gradually forced his shoulders to the mat. As the crowd sat waiting in silent suspense McIntosh succeeded in breaking (Continued on Page 2)

INTERMED'S DEFEATED BY RAILROAD "Y"

Good Game Lost by Single Point

FINAL SCORE, 16-17

McGill Gained Lead But Were Unable to Stand Fast Pace

On Saturday night the McGill basketball teams were scheduled to play on the Central floor but owing to the fact that the Shamrocks were unable to get their team together only the Intermediate game was staged. Consequently the Seniors went ahead one but the Juniors after a hard battle with the Railroad Y. M. C. A. were defeated; the latter team winning out by a single point.

The intermediate game started with McGill on the offensive. For a time the forwards kept up a continual bombardment of the Railroad basket but unable to stand the pace they were forced to fall back. This gave the Railroaders an opportunity to take the lead and by virtue of their fine combination were able many times to outwit the McGill defence and shoot. However at this time their shooting was rather poor and few of the shots were effective. When the whistle blew for half time the score stood 7-5 for the "Y" men.

In the second half McGill started off like a whirlwind and before the "Y" men were properly into the game they had scored three baskets in rapid succession. The score now stood at 11-7 for McGill. As in the previous half of the game the men were unable to follow up their lead and after a few minutes the "Y" men came back with some fine combination work and again led the play. Then followed a period in which both teams did a lot of foul- (Continued on Page 3)

MIXED "SING" HELD IN THE HALL LAST NIGHT

Lantern Slides of Knowlton Conference Were Also Shown

An enthusiastic "Sing" was held at Strathcona Hall last night. About sixty were present, including the ladies from the R.V.C. After a few hymns, Rev. Mr. Capel showed lantern slides of Knowlton Conference. These included many pictures of the grounds, sports, meetings, and also of the beautiful surrounding country.

McGill is working hard for a big representation there for the Eastern Colleges Conference, from June 18 to 26, and all who saw the slides went away impressed with the beauty of the country and of the many pleasures to be enjoyed there.

Any who think they can possibly go are asked to hand in their names to Mr. Scott at the Hall, or call in and talk over any difficulties that may stand in their way of going.

After refreshments had been served by the social committee, the meeting broke up on singing "God Save the King."

BASKETBALL TEAMS WILL PLAY M.A.A.A. ON WEDNESDAY EVENING

Intermediate Game Will Be Exhibition One

McGill Seniors Will Meet M. A. A. A. to Decide League Championship

The annual McGill-M.A.A.A. basketball evening will be held on Wednesday of this week, when the intermediate teams will meet in an exhibition game, and the seniors will either win the championship of the City League or by losing this game enter into a four-cornered tie with North Branch, Central "Y," M.A.A.A. and the University team. Last year, it will be remembered, the intermediates won their game quite handsily but the seniors lost out in overtime. This year we should win both, for in recent games the two McGill teams have defeated those of M.A.A.A. The seniors will have their strongest line-up, and all appear to be in the best of condition, and the morale of the team could not be better. It is expected that the students will rally in large numbers to support their team, and if they wish to secure sitting accommodation will have to be on hand early, as the first game will commence at 8.30 p.m. The M.A.A.A. team is at present going in top form, and with their win over North Branch last Saturday by a score of 36-24 they appear to have, at least, an equal chance on Wednesday evening.

The McGill team, however, have not shown their best in the last three games, but their practising lately has been very good. Geo. Upham (Capt.) is out to win one championship for McGill this year, and especially because next year will most likely find him among the supporters as a graduate. It is up to all the students to show their appreciation of his untiring efforts by our support on Wednesday evening. Monty and Lou Kern will hold down our defence, while Hay will take the jump at centre. Art. Young and Geo. Upham will play the forward positions. Doug. Hyndman will again be out and his long shot is a big asset to the team, especially in pulling the game out of the fire, as he did in the last game with M.A.A.A.

The intermediate team has shown good all round ability, but unfortunately by being unable to locate the basket on Saturday last, the Railroad "Y" romped away with the championship. This will be an excellent opportunity for our boys to do the come-back stunt, and incidentally will decide the runner-up position in the league.

WICKSTEAD PRACTICE PERIODS ARE FIXED

Annual Competition Will Be Held on April 8 and 10

With the Wickstead Annual Competition to be held on April 8 and 10 it has been decided that a slight change in the schedule of the classes will be necessary. The Marching and Calisthenic team temporarily will revert to their regular classes, and the large floor will be used from 5.15 to 6 for Wickstead practice. On Saturday the large gym. will also be used from 4.30 to 5.30 for Wickstead practice, the regular Med. '22 class coming on from 5.30 to 6. Any student who has had the least experience in a gymnasium programme can, by coming to the practice, become competent in the Wickstead events, which are the same each year, and may earn his "M" along with a silver medal, or the bronze, or the Harvey Cup. Remember the practice periods—Thursday, 5.15 to 6, and Saturday, 4.30 to 5.30. The schedule now will be:

Monday—12.30-1.10, Med. '23, B.
Tuesday—5.20-6, Sci. '21 and '22.
Wednesday—3.30-4.10, Med. '23 A.
Thursday—5.15-6, Wickstead practice.

Saturday—11.20-12, Arts '21 and '22; 4.30-5.30, Wickstead; 5.30-6, Med. '22. It is important that every student entering the Wickstead Competition should be at the Thursday practice, or Saturday, for then the dance steps and calisthenic drill will be demonstrated.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE.

On Saturday night the first Boxing, Wrestling and Fencing Smoker since 1914 was held and from every viewpoint was a decided success. With the beginning of the war, and the consequent curtailing of all forms of athletics, the club went practically out of existence. Last fall came the truce and with it the call among college men for the old condition of affairs. Together with basketball, swimming and other activities came boxing and wrestling. We do not intend to go into the details of how the old threads were picked up and woven into the web which we are sure will withstand any intercollegiate attack which may come next fall, but it is sufficient to say that it has been largely due to the untiring efforts of a few men who have "kept the ball rolling."

The success of any club is largely dependent upon two factors, namely, the enthusiasm and constancy of its members in their efforts towards the goal for which it is striving, and the executive ability and personal effort of the executive. One club may have upon its membership roll the largest number of names but unless it has an executive who are willing to devote time and energy on its behalf the chances are that it will be more or less of a failure.

At this smoker, which marked the end of a good season for the club, a number of speakers, including instructors, a member of the Students' Council, and a member of the professoriate, commented favourably upon its work. The boxers and wrestlers were complimented upon their fine showing and encouraged towards further efforts. The instructors were then congratulated for having produced them, and yet not one word of praise was publicly offered the men whose work was equally important in bringing about such a successful termination to the year's work. The men who arranged the affair, secured the necessary apparatus, made out the interesting programme, were, so to speak, left out in the cold.

It is our privilege to thank the President of the B. W. and F., and also the executive who so ably assisted him, for their untiring efforts on behalf of the club.

away. Stimulated to renewed effort the latter threw the Scientist, and after a few seconds secured a body scissor. Duvernet struggled bravely in the tightening grip but was unable to break it. Gradually, inch by inch, his shoulders were forced to the mat and just before time the referee, Geo. Saxon, announced the only decisive victory of the evening.

In almost all the boxing bouts the men were very evenly matched. Great enthusiasm was aroused by the manner in which the boxers went after each other in their efforts to get in a decisive blow. The three-round exhibition between Konigsberg and Log was especially remarkable for the great excitement that it caused. These men, although only in the 125-pound class, did some very heavy fighting and many hard blows were exchanged. Kellnor and Mirsky, 105-pound class, were evenly matched, and put up a fast and scientific exhibition.

The next items were two three-round bouts between prominent M. A. A. boxers. Logan and St. Pierre, in the first of these, gave a good display, neither having the advantage. The second one, between Parsons and Harold Fisk (McGill), proved to be very fast, indeed, with Fisk, who had the longer reach of the two, having a slight edge on his opponent. Following these, two McGill men, McCullough, Arts '22, and McCullough, Med. '20, gave a scientific exhibition of boxing in a three-round match.

Perhaps the last event was the one most looked forward to. It was the culminating point of a very successful programme, and consisted of a five-round boxing bout between two professionals, "Gunner" Adams, a returned soldier, and Patsy Dillon.

The first round opened with Dillon, who was lighter than his opponent, doing all the attacking. He rushed in several times, being much the quicker of the two, especially in the clinches, and managed to land a hard one that drew blood from Adams' nose. The second round was almost entirely close in-fighting, neither man having much of an advantage over the other. The third round saw some heavy fighting. Dillon constantly rushed in close, landing many blows on his slower opponent. Adams was bleeding profusely, but nevertheless he used his superior weight to good purpose. In the next round Adams started on the offensive, forcing Dillon to the ropes several times. The latter, however, came back and got in some good body blows. The fifth and last round opened with both men rushing at each other. Several stiff exchanges took place, with Adams forcing his adversary again to the ropes. Dillon, however, came right back and landed many heavy blows, especially in the clinches.

Taken all round, Dillon seemed to have the edge on his opponent, in spite of an evident handicap in weight. This was probably due to his speed and better condition. Both men, however, gave a scientific exhibition of box-

EFFICIENCY WORK AT ALMY'S STORE

Representatives from Social Service Committee of Y.W.C.A. Pay Visit on Saturday

What might be called a branch of social work is the work of the efficiency expert in stores. The first duty of the efficiency expert is to get to know thoroughly the people and the conditions, which she is trying to better. In order to do this, one must have actually lived under similar conditions, where such knowledge could be gained at first hand, one must have business ability and a genial disposition.

The experiment, if experiment it may be called, of placing such a trained worker in Almy's, is beginning already to show results. A girl comes into the store as a cash girl, and if she shows any ability at all she now has adequate teaching, provided so as to insure her advancement. The work of the efficiency expert is to help the girl to understand what her job means, to define it from other jobs, and then to show how to progress to the position next higher up. A worker here is much hampered by not having the co-operation of the schools. Since there is no compulsory education, a child is allowed by law to work in a store when under school age, consequently he may grow up without even an elementary knowledge of the Three R's. Such a boy or girl is obviously incapable of advancement, and the store can do practically nothing for them. Another thing, because a child has never had to go to school, has never had to do a thing and do it well, he will not have the energy and ambition necessary to accomplish the best results in anything that he attempts.

One of the first problems is to encourage the sense of responsibility. At Almy's this has been fostered to a great degree by letting the clerks run things for themselves in a small way. During the 1 1/2 hours for lunch they can spend their time in the Recreation Room, where they dance and sing for patrol by flying boat, or airplane, and amuse themselves generally. A committee of three girls is in charge of this social hour will broaden out into each time, and take the responsibility of the entertainment. By degrees this social hour will broaden out into the formation of clubs, and in this way the store hopes to be able to provide adequate amusement and recreation for its employees. An employee who leaves the store for one reason or another, leaves her record behind, and in the future, she wishes to go for a job, she is at perfect liberty to do so.

There are obviously many opportunities for the social worker to do an immense amount of good in stores, but she must undertake it as one who understands the problems of each and every individual, and she must identify herself with the employee. Her work is not to provide valuable suggestions, but to put the employee in the position where he or she will be able to see things for themselves, to realize their own needs, and to discover for themselves the means of satisfying them.

NURSES AND PUBLIC HEALTH MEASURES.

Appropos of questions of public health, it is interesting to note the very pertinent query asked by Miss Roberta McAdam, M.P.P. for Alberta, when she returned recently from Great Britain. What she asks, is to become of the 1900 military nurses when they return from overseas service with the Canadian armies? She sees difficulties ahead for these noble women, unless some opportunity is given them to become re-established.

Miss McAdam suggests that these trained and experienced women be used in the work of national health. She points out the crying need of better nursing facilities in the prairie provinces, of more hospitals in the small towns, and an extended field for child welfare activities. In filling these national needs, she thinks that no one could be more valuable than these nurses.

Miss McAdam's query is timely. All public health measures in Canada are now under review. Since the plague came to us, we have better realized our needs and there is clamor for more efficient and national organization. In this reconstruction of public health measures the returned nurse and the woman doctor might and should be used in great numbers. It lies with the woman voter to bring this matter before the authorities in their communities and at the capital.—A. A. P.

AIRPLANES AS AIDS TO FOREST PATROLS.

With the cessation of hostilities overseas, the development of peacetime uses of the airplane has become a live subject, which is receiving considerable attention. Among the uses under consideration is that of forest fire patrol.

The British Columbia Forest Service became convinced during the past year of the feasibility of airplane patrols. With the development of peacetime uses of the airplane has become a live subject, which is receiving considerable attention. Among the uses under consideration is that of forest fire patrol.

The co-operative forest protective leadership of the St. Maurice Association, are also undertaking to arrange for patrol by flying boat, or airplane, and amuse themselves generally. A to discover fires in association territory in that province.

During the war the airplane has proved of incalculable value in the preparation of maps by photography. Similarly, it will also prove of great utility in mapping drainage and forest types in the vast unsurveyed and relatively unexplored areas of our northern forests.

In any event, present indications point to a distinct field of usefulness for aircraft in connection with various phases of forest work.—C. L.

NOTICES.

An interesting pamphlet is about to be placed in the R.V.C. Library. It is taken from Vol. 12 of the Transactions of the Royal Society of Canada. The pamphlet is by Miss Isabel Howe, who secured her M. Sc. at McGill in 1918, and is entitled the "Steric and Palmic Esters of the Isomeric Glycols."

UPON THE EXPRESSION OF IDEAS

In a previous article in this paper some weeks ago, entitled "On the Communication of Ideas," I endeavoured to portray the need in this University of ours for groups of men—sincere men—to associate themselves for the purpose of discussion and communication, one to the other of their individual opinions. Here men could plunge for a while into deeper waters, an opportunity that the usual intercourse seldom permits.

In this article I should like to touch on a somewhat similar subject, namely, the expression of ideas. By this I mean the deliberate exposure of our thought to the public's glassy gaze. This may seem audacious to some, ridiculous and vain to others, but not half so ridiculous, perhaps, as the presentation of some of the miserable, drivell we are expected to read in some newspapers. If a man is conceited who attempts to expose his ideas, if what he believes to be true is untrue—then criticism, hostile, derisive, even embittered, is always possible, and the critic may take up his pen if he wants to. Criticism need never be harmful; it can almost always be productive. It only remains for a man always to be open-minded, ever ready to receive direction or enlightenment.

"The effect of any writing on the mind," said Emerson, "is mathematically measurable by its depth of thought. When we observe about us the effect that shallowness and prejudice exercise over the popular mind we are very apt to question this statement. What the public seem to want is not food but froth. Give the crowd something that interests them, something that amuses them and makes them laugh, and you are their hero—their popular god, soon to be deposed by someone who pleases them more than you do. The people know little of its greatest thinkers—Carlyle, Emerson, Pascal—these are but names! Who, on the other hand, has not been impressed by "Charlie Chaplin" or "Billy Sunday"?

Though on the surface these men seem to wield enormous power today, yet in a few generations their names will be forgotten. Perhaps the men who will stand out pre-eminent from our contemporaries a century hence, will be men who to-day live in obscurity and contempt, and so it has always been that men with the ballast of thought have survived their times, even though their circle of influence may be comparatively limited.

Thus we see that that which endures is depth and sincerity of thought. If a man possesses this and the grit to withstand the inevitable ridicule and opposition he will not fear to express himself. His deliberate announcement will not be due to egotism and conceit, as some will imagine, but to a natural craving towards that expression, that any powerful idea produces. To be sure, most men will misunderstand him—that is only to be expected, but he will recognize in this a duty to declare that which he believes to be true, to listen gladly to hostile criticism, to appreciate the truth from its various aspects, to be ready to forsake ideas which seem no longer to be true for those that seem truer, and throughout all thought to maintain complete freedom and independence.—H. ing and many free shots were given both teams. Whereas McGill were unable to make these count the Rail-roaders seemed to find the basket with ease and the final score was to a great extent due to their ability to tally on each foul. Towards the end both squads seemed to pick up somewhat but the McGill line-up were unable to tally while their opponents were successful in nothing one. When time was called the Railroad "Y" team was leading by one point.

The line-ups were as follows:
McGill—Lalshley, Forbes, Brown, Leavitt, Kern, Kapp.
Railroad Y.M.C.A.—Ulley, Pugh, Grant, Hollingsworth.

CANADA'S FEATHERED FRIENDS

On a frosty morning in the early spring, just after the first brown patches of grass have appeared in the meadows, a joyous, warbling song is heard in the orchard. The singer is easily found—the first glimpse of that blue back, bluer than the bluest of summer skies, tells you his name—the Bluebird. Then, with a flourish of one or both wings, he settles on a point of vantage and watches the ground below him for insect prey. The sunshine is already warming some of them to life for their careers of destruction, but the Bluebird pounces again and again from his perch, and many insects are removed which, with their numerous progeny, would serve to lay waste and destroy the crops of field and garden.

The Bluebird is but one of an army of migrants to follow. As spring advances they swarm in our shade-trees and hedges, and scatter over field and forest; even in the air they have their hunting ground; and almost without exception they are working in man's interest by holding in check the insect hordes which if they held undisputed sway, would render man's agricultural efforts of no avail.

When man clears the forest and plants various plants for food he disturbs the complicated series of events known as the balance of nature. The insects often find his exotic vegetation more succulent and attractive than their native hosts, and transfer their attention to this new source of food. Certain of the birds have increased because of these new prairies, which were once forests, and which man has made, and many others find the edges of the man-made fields attractive. We must maintain the bird control of the insect pests as best we can under these conditions. This can be done by protecting the birds which have succeeded in adapting themselves in a measure to man; the birds which come into the garden and orchard and meadow, and find it good and stay there. We can encourage them to come by feeding them in winter and by providing suitable nesting-sites so that they will stay with us when we need them most and when they need most insect food; and that is when they are raising their young.

Suitable shrubbery, such as a few dense tangles of bushes and creepers or a shady hedge, will afford them shelter from their enemies, and if their greatest enemy, the cat, is banished or tethered or otherwise disposed of, they will amply repay us for all our trouble. The damage we suffer from insect pests is enormous; without bothering about giddy figures, it suffices to say that insects destroy from five to twenty-five per cent. of each year's crop of everything man raises, the forest losses, which are even more difficult of computation, must be as great. The birds help to hold these enemies of ours in check; these lovely creatures which we would protect as we do flowers for their beauty, and which we all must admire because of their musical ability and cheering presence, are really working for us from dawn to dark, and even through the hours of darkness. How much do we owe them! How carefully we should guard them from danger!

And then, when you have studied and known the birds that work for you at home; when you really know the Robin, and Oriole, and Chickadee, and Chipping Sparrow, and a dozen others, you may be tempted to go and see the ones that protect your woods; the shy, retiring birds that avoid the haunts of man and prefer the cool, silent forest; the Hermit Thrush, the Rose-breasted Grosbeak and the Veery, and very many more. If you once begin to know the birds, they will have a new friend and protector and the gain will not all be theirs.

A new pleasure has been added to your experience, new thrills may make your outing an event, and there will be a new motive to draw you from the mundane things of life into God's great out-of-doors, from which one always returns refreshed and rejuvenated to take up the daily task.

When autumn comes, your new-found friends gradually disappear from their accustomed haunts. You will miss them, but others have taken their place. The Chickadees and Creepers now search every nook and twig and cranny for the hibernating insect or the cluster of insect eggs that would otherwise spell disaster or damage for your shade and orchard trees next year. Attract the Chickadee to your house and to your orchard in winter. A piece of suet or a scrap of bacon rind nailed to a tree will keep him working in your immediate neighbourhood, and the winter days will seem shorter for his bright and cheering presence. He will appreciate a shelter if you provide one by nailing up a small bird-box or two, and in these he can spend the cold winter in safety.

The birds which leave in the fall spend the winter in the United States or even south of them. Your Bluebird and your Robin may spend the winter in Virginia or in California. Therefore both the United States and Canada have agreed by treaty to protect all migratory insectivorous birds, because these birds belong to us both. It is illegal throughout the whole of the United States and Canada to shoot them or harm them or rob them of their nests or eggs. Everyone must help enforce this treaty, and the best beginning is to protect the insectivorous birds in your own garden, on your own farm, or in your woods. If you see persons shooting insectivorous birds, report them to the nearest game warden, not because you want to cause trouble, but because you believe in protecting the birds which work for us, and are our common property.

If you are a sportsman, you will be glad to know that close seasons of uniform length have been arranged so as to protect the migratory game birds and wild-fowl. Spring-shooting of all migratory game birds is forbidden, and they can now make in safety the northward journey to their breeding grounds, there to replenish their numbers. A permanent close season for a number of species such as Wood Ducks, Elder Ducks, Band-tailed Pigeons, Little Brown, Sandhill and Whooping Cranes, Swans, Curlew, and all shore-birds except Woodcock, Wilson Snipe, Black-breasted Plover, Golden Plover, and Greater and Lesser Yellowlegs is now in force, so that these depleted species may increase in number. As a true sportsman, use every influence in your power to assist in the observation and enforcement of the Migratory Birds Convention Act. We need our insectivorous birds to protect our crops and forests, and we need our game so that our children and our children's children will not find that their heritage in wild-life has been destroyed by us. Let us have our health-giving out-door sport, but do not destroy all game. Leave enough so that our descendants, for whom we hold this vast domain in trust, will not lack this incentive to visit the great out-of-doors.

"The Nice Little Distinctions"

You know how much of the success of any Suit or Overcoat depends on what the French call "The nice little distinctions". It is not an extravagance to wear well-made clothes, of good materials. In fact, it is an economy, because Fit-Reform Clothes wear so much longer, and look so much better, that their cost per season is actually less than any others you can buy. A great many men—who come to us year after year for their clothes—have proven the economy of Fit-Reform to their complete satisfaction.

PROGRAM OF AQUATIC MEET IS PUBLISHED

Will Be Held at Central Y. M. C. A. on April 5th

The Central Y.M.C.A. Natatorium will be the scene of one of the largest meets ever held in Montreal, when on April 5th the McGill Swimming Club will put on a programme of aquatic sports.

Most of the events, with the exception of the diving and 100 yards, open event, are handicaps, so that everybody will have an equal chance to win something.

One of the features of the meet will undoubtedly be the diving competitions, consisting of two events, a long plunge and style diving, both from scratch. There will also be a faculty relay race, which should uncover some good swimming.

In addition to the above, the 100 yards, open race (free style), is going to prove an event of championship calibre, with Fisk, Geo. Hodgson, Ver-nol, Patten, and others already entered.

One of the most interesting events of the programme is sure to result from the polo game between "Old McGill" and McGill S.C. This will doubtless prove to be a very exciting contest as the "Old Boys" will want to show everybody that the good old days are a thing of the past, while the Swimming Club will endeavour to demonstrate the superiority of McGill of the present over by-gone days.

Tickets are now on sale, and may be obtained from the class presidents or at the Union. Admission is 50 cents, gallery; 75 cents, reserved seats.

The programme is as follows:
Open to College Only.
100 yards, free style, handicap.
50 yards, breast, handicap.
400 yards, free style, handicap.
50 yards, free style, scratch.
25 yards, back stroke, handicap.
Long plunge, scratch.
Style diving, scratch.
Fancy dress farce, scratch.
Relay, Faculty, scratch.
Polo game, "Old Boys", vs. McGill S.C.
Open to All-comers.
100 yards, free style, scratch.

ever, put up a very hard fight, and their good work drew many cheers from the audience.

In addition to this, G. Cloutier, S.C. '20, familiarly known as "Jazz," gave several selections on the guitar, which aroused much applause. "Heck" Campbell, well known around the college for his fine voice, also gave as a selection "The Trumpeter," which called forth such enthusiasm as to necessitate an encore. Art, Scott, at the piano, also rendered several pieces during the intermission that proved very popular.

After the last event was completed Professor Sullivan kindly consented to give a short talk. He thanked the outside boxers for their services and congratulated Mr. Smith, the B., W. and F. Club instructor, on the efficient manner in which he had accomplished the task of developing good boxers and wrestlers from raw material. He also thanked Billy Morrison and Billy Armstrong, the referee, for their help. In conclusion, Ross Laing, on behalf of the students of McGill, thanked the M.A.A.A. men and Billy Armstrong for their efforts in making the smoker so successful.

PRESIDENT OF Y.W.C.A.

MISS PATERSON-SMYTH.

Campus Leaders.

JESSIE PATERSON-SMYTH.

Jessie Paterson-Smyth is a colleen of Ireland, having been born in Kings-town. Her peregrinations from Kings-town to Dublin, 1902, from Dublin to Montreal, 1907, from Montreal to Toronto, where she matriculated from Bishop Strachan's School, landed her at McGill, a freshman with the class of R.V.C. '16.

Past history makes it known that early in her freshman year she gained a reputation as a champion debater and public speaker. During her first and second years at college her efforts on the class debating team helped to win the Debating Shield for '16. As a freshman she won the first public speaking cup. As class president of '16, he led her class to capture the college banner. She also won the fancy skating cup. In 1917 she won the second public speaking cup; in 1919 she was one of the R.V.C. debating team in the Inter-Society Debate; but, more than this, Miss Paterson-Smyth is a thoroughly good student. She knows the most elusive details concerning the Juke's family. She pores over musty volumes in the stack just for the sake of poring (7-1) and she is the saviour of her classmates in the readiness and accuracy with which she answers professorial questions. Her most valuable services to R.V.C. have been rendered during her presidency of the Y.W.C.A. this year—in other words, she has executive ability. History in the making has it that Jessie is engaged to marry Dr. Arthur

MCGILL SKI CLUB HAS ITS ANNUAL MEETING

Club, Now Member of the Athletic Association, Holds Elections

At the annual meeting of the McGill Ski Club, recently held, the officers for the coming year were elected and the programme for the next season was discussed. As the club is henceforth a member of the Athletic Association, and will accordingly be more strongly backed, big things are expected for next year. In future, the winners of ski-ing events are promised recognition from the Athletic Committee in the shape of McGill "M's", and naturally this will prove a great encouragement for all ski-ers. The prospects of holding an Intercollegiate Meet here next year were discussed, and if enough interest in this branch of winter activities is taken in the future big things will undoubtedly be developed.

The election of officers under the recently drawn constitution was next held, and after a vote of thanks had been tendered the secretary, for his splendid work in keeping the club going so successfully during the past season, the following officers were elected for 1919-20:
President—H. Wilder, Sci. '22.
Vice-President—A. Glen, Sci. '21.
Secretary—D. R. Anderson, Arts '22.
Treasurer—W. F. Macklaier, Arts '22.

At the resumption of activities next year, a committee of three will be chosen to manage and choose the teams for any meets. The Montreal Club has kindly offered to lend an instructor to any men who wish coaching in jumping and general proficiency next year, and in all probability their offer will be accepted, and appreciated by all ski-ers, as both the beginner and the more accomplished ski-er can easily benefit by such training as a veteran in the game could give.

Help Him to Help Himself

We owe the returned soldier every effort we can make towards securing steady employment for him.

Do not try to throw the burden entirely on employers. They have a grave responsibility, but only insofar as every man, woman and child gives willing help can Canada ensure a fair day's pay for a good day's work for all her men.

How can YOU help? By investing in War-Savings Stamps.

How will THAT help? Canada must secure foreign purchasers for the products of her forests, farms, and factories. Many nations are anxious to buy our goods, but can only do so if Canada grants credit to them.

Lend your money to Canada, so that Canada may re-lend to those who must buy on credit. The money is being raised by the sale of War-Savings Stamps, so that when you invest in a War-Savings Stamp you provide a day's pay for some returned soldier.

A War-Savings Certificate with 10 W.S.S. affixed will be redeemed by the Dominion of Canada on January 1st, 1924, for $50.00, for at that date the W.S.S. are worth $5.00 each.

War-Savings Stamps cost $4.02 in March; $4.03 in April; $4.04 in May, and they may be purchased at any place displaying the Beaver-Stamp sign.
